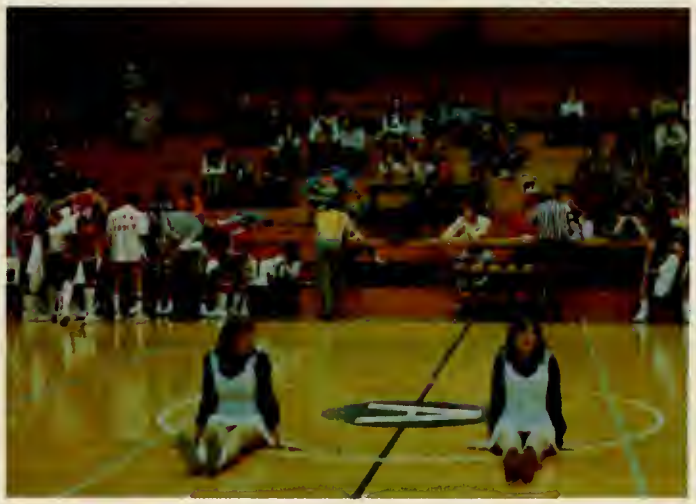
Reach. Reaching up ... reaching out ... reaching within. Reach out and touch a mountain, reach up and you touch the stars.



People reaching people ... people reaching out for people. Reaching a conclusion, reaching the end of my rope. Singing ... reaching to hit either that high or low note.

Reaching out . . . a new friend or an old comrade. Reaching out for guidance, for help, for understanding . . . for love.

Reaching out and touching someone — by words or by actions. Reaching their soul, mind and heart.

Reaching within — reflecting. The years go by so only we could reach out and stop time. Soon, we'll be old ...

I try to reach inside myself — to see where it all went. What I would've changed; days I would've spent differently than I did.

... The thought just didn't reach me in time.

Reaching the end . . . the end of my long, tiring and often times frustrating journey. Taking one last walk before I reach out for that small, almost insignificant statement that says I've reached the end . . . no more academic aspirations to reach for.

Still, in the photo album of my mind, I can always reach back to find good times and bad, joyous and sad . . . reaching back . . .

STUDENT LIFE

Students in Action

The life of a student — a constant reach. A constant search for something — I don't know what. Reaching for acceptance ... from my profs, my friends and even myself. Reaching for a beer at a dance ... snowballs ... reaching the HLH halfway through Dr. Cooper's lecture on The Inferno ... T.G.I.F. ... reaching for a book in the library ... or reaching for the courage to be an individual. Reaching for the courage to be me.

Dorm Life

Life in the Dorm Village — Reaching over to turn off my alarm clock ... reaching for my meal card. Grabbing my books and hoping I reach class on time. Reaching into my mailbox, grasping a letter and praying that there's a check inside. Being the only one on my hall who doesn't like Farrah or the Yankees. Having a roommate who snores like a rusty chainsaw. Reaching for the door knob, yelling out the door and hoping that the person down the hall is reaching to turn his stereo down. Reaching for my ear plugs when the party downstairs gets too loud. Reaching for my long underwear. Reaching a sense of peace inside when I finally find a quiet place ... to have a nice, quiet nervous breakdown.

Commuters

Traveling on . . . reaching campus in time for my 8:00 class . . . reaching for the phone so I can call Mom to tell her that I'm snowed in on campus . . . sneezing and coughing just as Nurse Shorb reaches over to take the thermometer out of my mouth . . . wondering if I should stay for the S.G. movie or go on home and study for a Humanities exam . . . cursing OPEC when the price of gas reaches one dollar a gallon.

Homecoming

Coming home . . . my one chance this year to put on a tux . . . seeing familiar faces from just last year and from years ago. God, how much she's changed! — I never knew he was so tall! Reaching back. Reliving old friendships. Reaching out to catch my date before she dances away from me . . . reaching to bring her close when the band plays a slow number. Matt Connolly and Dee Forester . . . the King and Queen. Reaching up and resting my head in my hands — How much of this will I remember in the morning?

Homecoming King Matt Connelly and his date Terri Stuart. Homecoming Queen Dee Forester and her date Chris Frank.

Dances

Disco—shake your groove thing! Friday night ... Saturday Night Fever ... Sunday Morning Hangover ... Reaching for a beer or a coke ... sitting right in front of the band's PA system ... having to go upstairs to the bathroom ... telling John Travolta to eat his heart out!

Beer Busts

Making it through another week. The Coffeehouse . . . hot and crowded, lots of smoke. Reaching for another beer . . . reaching my limit. Somebody playing the piano. Reaching for an octave. Music from WUNF-FM. Spilling a brew or two on the floor. Getting a buzz. Leaving . . . "Whattya wanna do now?" Pause. "Let's go out and get some beer."

Gameroom

Charlie's Angels, Strikes and Spares, Pool, Foosball and Air Hockey. Reaching for a spare quarter ... and another ... and another. Reaching for the flippers. Double bonuses and extra balls. Reaching for enough points to get a freebie. "Who's runnin' the box?" Just one more game before I go to class. Sinking the eight-ball. "You wanna play front or back?" Okay, so I'll be late for class.

Snack Bar

A line a mile long. Reaching for that first cup of coffee in the morning. Forgetting my meal ticket and having to pay cash. Reaching for a flat coke, complaining about the high prices. Playing cards—looking for a fourth for Spades or Bridge. Going low with the Ace of Spades in my hand. Trying to control myself when I find I've dealt myself a 30-point hand (and praying that nobody calls a misdeal). Reaching across the table to strangle my partner when I find out he doesn't even have answering points. And the old equation; Monday's lunch equals Tuesday's supper.

Cafeteria

Wishing I could reach the volume control on the jukebox. What? No seconds?! High prices ... sometimes really out of reach. Do I want a salad? I'm on a diet. A salad and a diet drink. Trying to eat and study for an exam all at once. Sometimes I don't make it. We went to Ike's.

ROCKMONT '79

It's New Year's Day, Christmas, the Fourth of July and all the parties of the school year rolled into one gigantic celebration held at Camp Rockmont, near Swannanoa. It's been known to get pretty hairy in past years. In fact, one of the most popular events has been the new game called "Let's Throw the Prof into the Lake and see if He'll Float". Faculty made of Ivory Soap are asked to apply before May 5.

Summit

OUR crowd! What really makes the second floor tick (and occasionally tock). Working feverishly day and night to put out the best annual that this school has ever seen, the staff has had to fight over-developed pictures, under-developed copy, a typewriter without a ribbon, an empty frig, and a deadline that seemed to get closer by the paragraph or photo. Don't look for us in the office ... we're all at the Sip 'n Dip celebrating.

Women's Basketball

The Lady Bulldogs finished with a very respectable 10-10 record under first-year coach Barbara Quinn. Coach Quinn stated that this record is very good for a young team like the Lady Bulldogs. She also said that the school is doing extensive recruiting both in and out-of-state. Returning players such as Heather Harrison, Cindy Lewis, Marisa Matthews, Vera Mitchell, Phyllis Payne and Myra Sims will form a powerful nucleus for building the team next year.

Men's Basketball

Reaching for a rebound. Playing before the home crowd ... walking into a strange gym and seeing a crowd of familiar faces. Although the Bulldogs only had a 7-20 record for this season, they still showed the run-and-gun excitement that UNC-A students and community members have come to expect. This season also marks the end of an era with the resignation of Head Coach Bob Hartman.

Cheerleaders

(1-r): Wendy Dalton, Cindy Fortune, Gwen Howard, Karen Owenby, Debbie Maynard, Deb Reid, Dana Bailey, Shelly Mayer.

As the name implies, these energetic men and women stand along the sidelines at basketball games and lead the spectators in rousing cheers for the Bulldogs. The spectators are not always the most vocal group in the world (except when a call goes against their team), but the cheerleaders learn to grit their teeth and keep on cheerin'—win, lose or draw.

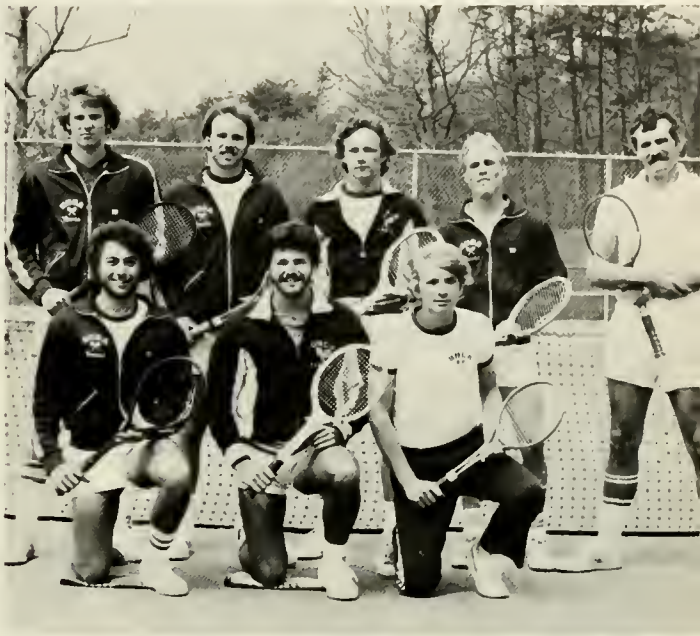
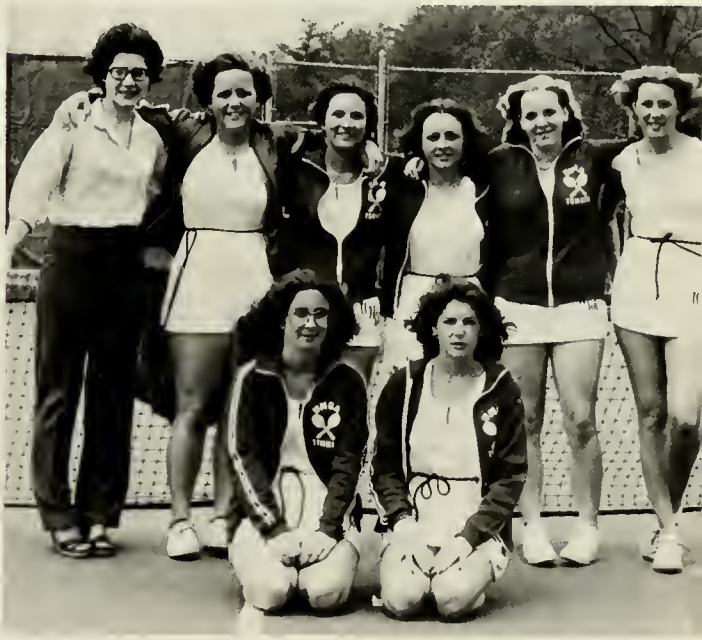
Tennis

Tennis. The only game in the world where making love means never scoring. Reaching for a high lob. The Men's Tennis team, coached by Ed Harris, finished the 1979 season with a 6-11 record. The Women's Team, coached by Jerry Green, finished with a record of 4-8.





Coach Ed Harris

Intramurals

Basketball and Softball. Quarks, Sultans of Swing, BSA, Master Batters, Mandingo Mud Warriors, Joint Effort and Bird Seed. Reaching for the rim to do a lay-up a la Dr. J., or reaching for a line drive that's just over my glove. Muddy playing fields, forfeits, playing without our best player(s). Are you sure Reggie Jackson started this way?

Reaching out to grab a pass ... Heading for the goal. UNC-A's Soccer team, although finishing with a 4-9-1 mark, showed that they could hold their own against such teams as Furman, USC, and WCU. Two shut outs highlighted the season, but the biggest moment for the Rudy Moorrees coached Bulldogs was a 0-0 tie with powerful WCU. Fullback Andy Linton was named the team's MVP while Todd Cecchini and Doug McCurry received Outstanding Achievement Awards.

Women's Volleyball

Reaching for a spike ... setting up a play ... In their first year of play the UNC-A Women's Volleyball team finished with a 9-15 record. Many losses were very close and with the return next year of veteran players the women's team feel they are well on their way to a winning record next year.

Do you care what's happening around you
Do your senses know the changes when they come
Can you see yourself reflected in the seasons
Can you understand the need to carry on?

What it's all about. The end of that long road. It's sitting out there in front of the library and suddenly seeing the last four years of your life flash in front of your eyes like a full-length "Made for Television" movie. The things I would've changed. It's walking up that platform, hearing your name called, reaching out for that little sheet of paper that says "You owe the Business Office $76.95." It's hearing your own cheering section out there. Then ... it's looking behind you and feeling like an actor who has come off of the stage for the last time. Never to return for that last bow. That bow's been taken. "Kiss today goodbye, and point me towards tomorrow," says the song from A Chorus Line. Tomorrow ... I'll be a graduate tomorrow. Where do I go from here? Reaching ... to reach home ... my family and friends ... to reach my dreams ... for a place in society ... for love, understanding, and happiness ... I shall always continue ... REACHING.
